

The McPin Foundation is a mental health research charity. We place those with lived experience at the heart of research. We conduct top quality research, offer consultancy and influence others to recognise the value of lived experience perspectives within research. Find out more about us at www.mcpin.org, contact@mcpin.org, or follow us on twitter @McPinFoundation.

Our participants

In our first year, we gathered data from 2,704 people across England and internationally.

Our team

We've started to grow. Over the first year, as well as our core team, we have employed 64 people with first hand experience of mental health problems to undertake research with us.

Our new and developing projects

In our first year, the McPin Foundation was involved in developing new proposals to secure funding and starting new research projects. We raised £338,000 in project grants.

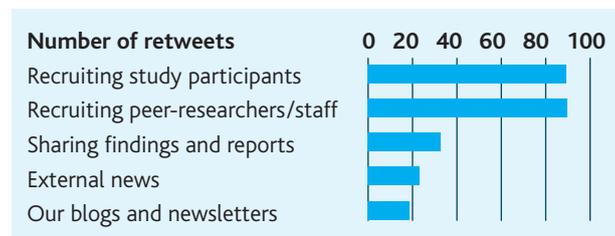

Our reporting

We have been reporting our findings in various ways and to different audiences.

Our social media

We started using Facebook and Twitter to communicate directly with the public and begin to recruit supporters.

Our partners and commissioners

Across our research, we have worked with a range of partners from different kinds of organisations.
